

Congressional Advocacy and Key Housing Committees

By Elayne Weiss, Senior Policy Analyst, National Low Income Housing Coalition

Lobbying Congress is a direct way to advocate for the issues and programs that are important to you. Members of Congress are accountable to constituents of a certain region, and each individual or organization should be able to connect with their senators and representatives through a fairly simple process. As a constituent, you have the right to lobby the members who represent you; as a housing advocate, you should exercise this right.

CONTACT YOUR MEMBER OF CONGRESS

To find out the contact information for your member of Congress, visit NLIHC's Congressional directory at <http://capwiz.com/nlihc/dbq/officials>, or call the U.S. Capitol Switchboard at 202-224-3121.

MEETING WITH YOUR MEMBER OF CONGRESS

Scheduling a meeting, crafting your agenda, developing the appropriate materials to take with you, determining your "ask" or "asks" ahead of time, making sure your meeting does not veer away from the subject at hand, and following up afterward, are all crucial elements to holding effective meetings with members of Congress.

For more tips on how to lobby effectively, see Lobbying: Individual and 501(c)(3) Organizations.
