

NLIHC Resources

In addition to the Advocates' Guide, NLIHC offers many other resources for advocates, policymakers, students, and others providing information on the most relevant housing and housing-related programs and issues. Here are ways to get the most out of your relationship with NLIHC.

FIELD

Your first point of contact at NLIHC is your Housing Advocacy Organizer. Housing Advocacy Organizers are members' best direct resource for questions regarding federal policy or NLIHC membership. The organizers also mobilize advocates from NLIHC's field when there is a federal housing issue that needs attention. NLIHC's Housing Advocacy Organizers are assigned specific states. Find the contact information for your state's Housing Advocacy Organizer at <https://nlihc.org/housing-needs-by-state>, or e-mail outreach@nlihc.org.

Tenant Talk

Tenant Talk is NLIHC's periodic newsletter geared toward low-income renters and their allies. Tenant Talk provides NLIHC's low-income resident members and others with updates about the policies affecting them, ways to take action and get involved, tips for effective organizing, local tenant victories, and other resources. Tenant Talk is distributed through email and mail. To be added to the mailing list, visit <https://nlihc.org/explore-issues/publications-research/tenant-talk>. To view past issues of Tenant Talk, visit <https://nlihc.org/explore-issues/publications-research/tenant-talk>.

Our Homes, Our Voices

The field works to support advocates throughout the country in planning and executing effective local events to support the Our Homes, Our Voices National Housing Week of Action. The Week of Action is an effort for communities to join together to call for better federal budget support for affordable housing and community development programs. There were more than 130 local events put on by field advocates in 2018. The dates for Our Homes, Our Voices Week of Action can be found at www.ourhomes-ourvoices.org.

POLICY

NLIHC's policy team tracks, analyzes, and advocates for NLIHC's policy priorities. The policy team updates Fact Sheets on NLIHC's policy initiatives and priority legislation on a monthly basis. NLIHC's policy priorities can be found at <https://nlihc.org/explore-issues/policy-priorities>.

NLIHC also convenes a Policy Advisory Committee, comprised of NLIHC board members and individual members. The Policy Advisory Committee informs NLIHC's policy agenda. Committee information is available online at <https://nlihc.org/take-action/policy-engagement>.

RESEARCH

NLIHC's research team publishes research on housing-related topics throughout the year. Access the latest research and reports in our "Resource Library" online at <https://nlihc.org/explore-issues/publications-research/research>.

Out of Reach

NLIHC's annual research publication, Out of Reach, offers a side-by-side comparison of wages and rents for every county, metropolitan area [Metropolitan Statistical Area or HUD Metro Fair Market Rent (FMR) Area], combined state nonmetropolitan area, and state in the United States. Advocates across the country use the data in this report to show the lack of housing affordability in their communities for low and minimum wage workers, and other low-income households. For each jurisdiction, the report calculates the Housing Wage, which is the amount of money a household must earn in order to afford a rental home priced at the area's FMR, based on the generally accepted affordability standard of paying no more than 30% of income for housing costs. The Housing Wage is available for a range of apartment sizes. Out of Reach is available on NLIHC's website at <https://reports.nlihc.org/oor>. The Housing Wage for metropolitan area ZIP codes is also available on-line.

The Gap

NLIHC's other annual research publication, The Gap, documents the shortage of housing for extremely low-income renter households. For the nation, each state, and the 50 largest metropolitan areas, this yearly report estimates the deficit/surplus of rental homes, housing cost burdens (households spending more than 30% of their income on housing), and severe cost burdens (households spending more than 50% of their income on housing) for extremely low-income, very low-income and low-income renter households. The report documents the number of additional affordable and available rental homes that are needed for the lowest-income renters. The Gap is available on NLIHC's website at <https://reports.nlihc.org/gap>.

Housing Spotlight

This series of occasional research briefs uses data from different sources to highlight a variety of housing issues. Find them online in the Resource Library at: <https://nlihc.org/explore-issues/publications-research/research/periodic-reports>.

Congressional District Housing Profiles

NLIHC's Congressional District Housing Profiles offer a snapshot of housing needs for each congressional district in the country. Each profile pulls data from a variety of sources and illuminates several dimensions of housing affordability for renter households in each district, the surrounding area, and the state. The profiles can be found at <https://nlihc.org/housing-needs-by-state>.

State Housing Profiles

NLIHC's State Housing Profiles illustrate the housing needs of low-income renter households for each state in the country. The profiles include visual representations of housing affordability issues as well as key facts about housing in each state. The profiles can be found at <https://nlihc.org/housing-needs-by-state>.

National Housing Preservation Database

NLIHC and the Public and Affordable Housing Research Corporation maintain an online database of nearly all federally assisted multifamily housing in the country. It includes information on properties subsidized by HUD, the USDA, and the Treasury Department. Advocates can use this database to get a clear picture of the subsidized stock of housing in their community and to identify properties that might be at risk of being lost from the affordable housing stock. The National Housing Preservation Database (NHPD) is the only de-duplicated, geo-coded, extractable, national inventory of federally subsidized properties, which links all of a property's subsidies to its main address. The database can be found at www.preservationdatabase.org. Users can also access "Preservation Profiles" on the NHPD website, which provide national and state-level snapshots of preservation needs. The Preservation Profiles are available at <https://preservationdatabase.org/reports/preservation-profiles/>.

For more information on the database, visit www.preservationdatabase.org or email aurand@nlihc.org or kstater@housingcenter.com.
