The Honorable Chuck Schumer
U.S. Senate

The Honorable Nancy Pelosi
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

The Honorable Mitch McConnell
U.S. Senate
Washington, DC 20510

The Honorable Kevin McCarthy
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

To Leader Schumer, Leader McConnell, Speaker Pelosi, and Leader McCarthy:

We, the undersigned 1,553 organizations, call on Congress to take bold action to achieve the large-scale, sustained investments and anti-racist reforms necessary to ensure that the lowest-income and most marginalized renters have an affordable place to call home. The Build Back Better Act is a once-in-a-generation opportunity to advance the HoUSed campaign's top priorities and create foundational and lasting change by expanding rental assistance, repairing public housing, and investing in the national Housing Trust Fund. We strongly encourage all members of congress to support the policy priorities articulated below in the Build Back Better Act.

We urge congressional leaders to ensure that as the Build Back Better Act advances in Congress, the allocation for housing investments through the House Financial Services and Senate Banking Committee remain at the highest level possible and that funding levels for rental assistance, public housing and the Housing Trust Fund receive no less than the amounts included in the bill approved by the House Financial Services Committee on September 14. Any cuts to the overall budget reconciliation package or changes to program levels must not come at the expense of proven solutions for households with the greatest needs.

To help address America’s housing and homelessness crisis, the forthcoming economic recovery package must:

1. Expand rental assistance by $90 billion for the lowest-income households, people experiencing homelessness, and other households with the greatest needs. An investment of $90 Billion would help approximately 1 million struggling households afford rent. Rental assistance is a critical tool for helping the lowest-income people afford decent, stable, accessible housing, and the program has a proven track record of reducing homelessness and housing poverty. This investment is an important first step toward fulfilling President Biden’s goal to make rental assistance available to all eligible households.

2. Provide $80 billion to preserve public housing, which is home to 2 million individuals. Public housing is critical to ensuring people with the greatest needs have a safe, decent, affordable, and accessible place to call home, and the preservation of this community asset must be included in any strategy to address America’s housing crisis. Congress has divested from public housing for decades, resulting in over $70 billion in unmet capital backlog. needs. As a result, our nation loses 10,000 to 15,000 units of public housing every year to obsolescence or decay and other units fall into disrepair.

3. Invest at least $37 billion in the national Housing Trust Fund to build 330,000 homes affordable to people with the lowest incomes. The Housing Trust Fund is the first new federal housing resource in a generation exclusively targeted to build and preserve rental homes affordable to people with the lowest incomes, those with the greatest and clearest needs. It is the only federal housing production program targeted to address the market failure that is an underlying cause of the housing crisis.

Even before the pandemic, America was in the grips of an affordable housing crisis, most severely impacting the most marginalized and lowest-income people, including seniors, people with disabilities, families with children, and others. Nationally, there is a shortage of 7 million homes affordable and available to renters with extremely low incomes. For every 10 of these households, there are fewer than 4 affordable and available homes. There is not a single state or congressional district with enough affordable homes to meet this demand.

Without affordable options, 8 million extremely low-income households pay at least half of their limited incomes on rent, leaving them without the resources they need to put food on the table, purchase needed medications, or make ends meet. In the U.S., renters need an annual income of nearly $50,000 or $23.96 an hour on average to afford a modest, two-bedroom apartment. Renters in many areas of the country need to earn far more. This is significantly more than the incomes of many working families, seniors, and people with disabilities. A full-time minimum-wage worker can afford a one-bedroom rental home at fair market rent in just 5% of all U.S. counties. There are no counties where a minimum wage worker can afford a two-bedroom rental home at fair market rent. Despite the clear need, 3 in 4 households eligible for housing assistance receive none because Congress continues to underfund proven solutions. Families wait for years, even decades, on waiting lists. Millions of households are one financial shock away from economic hardship that could quickly spiral out of control into rent arrears, evictions and, in worst cases, homelessness, as happened to many renters during the pandemic.

People of color are most harmed by the housing crisis. Black households account for 13% of all households, yet they account for 26% of all extremely low-income renters and 40% of people experiencing homelessness. Latino households account for 12% of all U.S. households, 21% of extremely low-income renters, and 22% of people experiencing homelessness. Native Americans are significantly overrepresented among people experiencing homelessness. The harms are compounded for women of color. These are the same households most impacted by the pandemic and the economic fallout, and they are now even more precariously housed.

Expanding access to rental assistance and building and preserving housing supply through investments in public housing and the national Housing Trust Fund will have broad, positive impacts on racial equity, education, healthcare, economic mobility, and reducing poverty. Housing justice is central to racial equity because disparities in education, income, wealth, employment, and health are driven in large part by racial segregation and discrimination in housing. Housing can help close the education gap because children learn better and are more likely to graduate when they live in a stable, affordable home. A quality affordable home is a prescription for good health and has been linked to prevention of long-term health problems and promotes healthy, productive lives. Housing supports economic mobility, allowing low-income people to climb up the income ladder and achieve financial stability. By providing housing assistance, we can reduce poverty, increase stability for vulnerable households, and help avert homelessness, institutionalization, and incarceration.
More than ever, we need your leadership to enact bold policies to ensure that people with the lowest incomes and the most marginalized people have a stable, affordable home. Please support these critical policies in the upcoming Build Back Better legislation.

Sincerely,
